CITES ECONOMY IN REMODELING OF COURTHOUSE

Architect Says Improved Building Would Be Equivalent to New Structure

FIXES COST AT $75,000

Voters To Act on Bond Issue To Finance Project in November

Should voters authorize remodeling and improvement of the courthouse in accordance with plans proposed by the board of commissioners, Marion County will be provided with what virtually will be the equivalent of a new and thoroughly modern structure.

This was indicated today by J. Lewis Ellis, local architect, who is completing plans and estimates for the work and who expects to submit his report to the commissioners early next week.

As the result of changes which have been made in the plans as originally outlined, the estimated cost will be in the neighborhood of $75,000 instead of $50,000, Mr. Ellis states. In order to proceed with the remodeling, a bond issue to cover the cost must be authorized by voters of the county. The proposal will be submitted to them at the November election.

Would Clean Exterior

Sand-blasting of the entire exterior of the courthouse, the cleaning process used recently to clean up the front of the Marion National Bank building, is one of the additional improvement features recently agreed upon by the architect and board of commissioners. This treatment would remove all dirt and blemishes from the structure and give it the appearance of an absolutely new building, it is stated.

Needed roof repairs also are proposed, this feature not being included in the original plans.

The latest alterations also include installation of lavatory and toilet rooms for women underneath the west entrance to the building. The rooms now used for this purpose in the basement of the courthouse would be eliminated and the space used for offices.

The remodeling plans, as now revised, will add approximately 4,500 square feet to the present office space of the county building, the architect states.

Rental Value $5,600

It is estimated that the rental value of this additional space would be more than $5,600 annually. This is based upon rents paid in the central section of the business district, which are said to average $1.25 a square foot.

The general remodeling plans would add a fourth floor to the county building, provide elevator service, do away with the steps on the south side, substitute two converging lines of stairs for the pyramid steps now in use on the west side, and utilize for office purposes much of the space that is now taken up with hallways.

ARREST SIX IN RIOTS AT MINE; ACCUSE SHERIFF

Situation in Belmont County Trouble Takes on Serious Aspect

300 ATTACK TAXI DRIVER

Officer of Law Charged with Intoxication During Disorders

St. Clairsville, Aug. 13—With four men and two women, said to be union sympathizers, under arrest and charged with inciting a riot and assault with intent to kill, five affidavits on file charging Sheriff Hardesty with intoxication while on duty, and one man suffering a fractured jaw, affairs at the President Mine, Belmont County, took on a serious aspect today, according to Col. C. C. Conelly, Ohio National Guard officer, investigating the mine situation here for Governor Donahey and Adjt. Frank Henderson.

The men and women were charged with inciting a riot and assault to kill as the result of an alleged attack late Friday, upon C. V. Nichols, Wheeling, W. Va., taxi driver who is said to have been driving non-union workers to the President Mine. About 300 men and women were in attacking crowd, it was reported, "including a black whiskered man who led the crowd." This man is said to be still at large.

Held for Hearing

Those arrested were Mike Pelmolovich, president of the President Mine local; Steve Salich and Anda Santano, secretary and treasurer of the mine local, John Kalopsis, and Mrs. Mary Popok and a Mrs. Frendlin.

Those arrested are being held at the county jail pending a preliminary hearing, when bond will be fixed.

According to Colonel Conelly, about ... non-union workers were sent to each of three mines near here, the Webb and the Florence Mines, and the President Mine. There was no disturbance at either of the other two mines, according to the national guard officer who reported that the operators sent out their non-union workers without notifying the sheriff so that proper protection could be given them.

Of the five affidavits charging that Sheriff Hardesty was incapable of performing his duty because of intoxication, one was signed by Prosecuting Attorney Paul V. Waddell, and another by Assistant Prosecutor A. Edmond Iddings.

Guard Arrested

Following the alleged attack on Nichols, the taxi driver, at the President Mine, Colonel Conelly arranged to visit the mine with Waddell and Iddings. According to reports they were to leave about three hours after the reported attack when Sheriff Hardesty arrived at

TRUCK DRIVER BRUISED

Fuel Ignites and Is Scattered for Half Mile by Burning Wreckage

Lima, Aug. 13—One man was burned to death, and two others are expected to die from burns sustained at Hume, near here, today when a southbound Baltimore & Ohio passenger train struck a truck of the Radiant Oil Co. of Lima. Three coaches of the train were destroyed by fire.

Howard Davis, baggage man, was burned to death. E. J. Linder, engineer, Cincinnati, and Anthony Flogie, fireman, Cincinnati, are in City Hospital here with burns which doctors say will prove fatal. L. N. Sneary, driver of the truck, was burned and bruised, though it is believed he will recover.

The coaches destroyed by fire were the combination day coach and baggage car, the mail car and passenger car. Ten passengers escaped.

It is not known how much mail was being carried in the car, but it is believed all of it was destroyed.

The railroad right of way affords a clear view to auto traffic in both directions, it is said.

Gasoline and oil igniting immediately after the crash was scattered for a half mile as the engine plowed on, carrying the wreckage of the oil truck.

With downcast eyes, "Queen" Mary sat 20 feet from Benjamin as he lay on a stretcher in court and listened to her husband's indictment.

PENNSYLVANIAN POINTS TO ANDREW W. MELLON

Secretary of Treasury Seen as G. O. P. Presidential Possibility

York, Pa., Aug. 13—Citing the need for a "sane, safe and conservative man" as the Republican presidential candidate in 1928, State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis today issued a statement at his home here lauding Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, as the most outstanding possibility.

Lewis, widely known in politics, directed the campaign for the W. L. Mellon candidate in central Pennsylvania during the last state campaign. He is the first state leader to come out with a presidential preference.

"It has taken us some time to realize that President Coolidge meant that he would not be a candidate in 1928," Lewis asserted. He forecast that it may require months "to come to a full realization of our whereabouts, political, business and otherwise, without Coolidge."

Although saying that "Pennsylvania's claims in presidential conventions usually are waved aside," Lewis maintained that "if there ever is or will be such a thing as the office seeking the man, then Pennsylvania cannot be fairly passed up in the present critical juncture."

The statement described Mellon as "the man who in public appraisal and evaluation of those human forces and influences back of, and responsible for, our present state of unexampled national prosperity, ranks only second to President Coolidge himself."

American Diplomatic Activities in China Criticized

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 13—The course of American diplomacy in China recently is making the Chinese suspicious of this country's policy, Thomas F. Millard, former editor of the China Press, Shanghai, and former adviser to the Chinese government, asserted today at the Institute of Politics.

"We have witnessed in the last two years diplomatic agents of the American government in China helping to enforce treaties which the policy of the American government condemns, and which it logically would want to abolish," Millard said.

FUEL ECONOMY SUBJECT OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

Holland Furnace Co. Stresses Proper Installation of System To Prevent Waste

Fuel economy is a subject in which every family is interested according to A. H. Landwehr, president of the Holland Furnace Co. When the home heating plant averages a high fuel consumption the furnace is usually blamed when actually the fireman may be largely responsible.

There are a number of factors that increase fuel consumption. The chimney flue draft, size of the heater, air flow, proper regulation of the draft dampers and filled ash pits contribute to the burning and heating qualities of the furnace.

Economy in home heating can only be obtained by installing a furnace which has a greater heating capacity than the area to be heated requires. A heating plant which is smaller than the heating requirements call for actually increases fuel consumption and requires much more attention in firing. It is always well for the home builder to call in a competent heating engineer, which will assure him sufficient heat during the cold months with the minimum cost for fuel.

The heating problems of the home are studied by the Holland Furnace Co. through trained heating engineers. Mr. H. O. Nearhood, Holland heating engineer and local representative of the company at 153 S. Vine st., is a graduate of this course.

HEALTH
Modern doctors claim that the Healthiest kind of Heating system is one that circulates and properly moistens the air in our homes. Hot water and the ordinary hot air Furnace does neither.
The Holland is equipped with an automatic Humidifying system whereby you can evaporate as high as 20 gallons, if necessary, of water in the air every 24 hours.
This system keeps the air you breathe at the right moisture content all of the time.

TIME NOT RIPE FOR CHURCHES TO UNITE, CLAIM

Rev. E. O. Bradshaw, Chicago, Formerly of Marion, Issues Statement Here

Rev. Peterson O. Bradshaw, A. M., D. D., Ph. D., of the department of religious education of the Chicago Church Federation of Chicago, formerly of this city, was a visitor during the last week with his mother, Mrs. N. A. Bradshaw, 740 [illegible]-st.

Dr. Bradshaw, who has been connected with the Chicago Church Federation, is a member of the Baptist denomination and several years ago while studying for the ministry, filled the pulpit of Trinity Baptist Church in the absence of the regular minister.

The federation with which Dr. Bradshaw is connected is regarded as one of the strongest and largest federations of churches in the United States. It is supported by percentages made in the budgets of the churches in the federation.

Seventeen different protestant denominations which go to make up nearly 800 churches of the country, comprise the Chicago Church Federation.

Work of Federation

The work of the federation is to support chaplains of the Cook County Jail, Cook County Infirmary, the House of Correction and several other institutions in that vicinity. Cook County includes part of Chicago.

During the last summer the federation has carried on 250 vacation Bible school enrolling more than 30,000 boys and girls. The schools closed Aug. 1. Training for 3,000 teachers in the Chicago Sunday Schools has been given the last year under the supervision of the federation.

The department of religious education with which Dr. Bradshaw is immediately connected is an auxiliary of the International Council of Religious Education. It is under the leadership of Dr. Hugh S. Magill.

Issues Statement

In a statement during his stay here this week, Dr. Bradshaw declared that the time is not yet ripe for churches of like faith to unite. Through the federation, he stated, the churches have been found to cooperate fully in carrying on many activities for the good of the city.

Dr. Bradshaw with his family left Marion Thursday morning for a short tour of the south where he will visit relatives and friends before returning here in two weeks. There is a possibility, according to members of his family here, that he may make some addresses on his return before he goes back to Chicago.

Marion's Salvation Army Post Actively Engaged In Work More Than 30 Years

One of Three Corps in State Without Permanent Home, Records Show; Captain and Mrs. William Killoch in Charge of Program

Although the Marion post of the Salvation Army has been in existence for more than 30 years, it is one of the three corps in the state of Ohio without a permanent home, according to the statements of Captain William and Mrs. Killoch.

For years the post has had its headquarters in rented buildings and will continue to live, Captain Killoch avers, unless someone wills its property or bequeaths its money to buy property.

The Marion post has been active for its entire 30 years, carrying on its program of helpfulness in cases of need and conducting its regular religious services. The Army, Captain Killoch reports, is the largest religious organization in existence, operating in [illegible] countries and speaking in 67 languages. It possesses 30,000 bandsmen.

Captain and Mrs. Killoch are the youngest leaders ever stationed in Marion. Both have the same privileges of a regular ordained minister of the gospel. Captain Killoch was born in Glasgow, Scotland, coming to this country in 1909. He is a musician, having been graduated from the Boston Conservatory of Music. He entered the Salvation Army during the World war and was placed in the East Quebec Regiment.

The captain's [illegible] program of activities in Marion is the young people's [illegible] the entire [illegible] of the post depends upon the [illegible] and cooperation of the [illegible]. There has been a [illegible] this year, as the [illegible] under the capable direction of the officers.

Captain Killoch is also in charge of the Army work at Richwood, and is assisted by Captain McCreedie. Services are conducted at the Marion County [illegible] each month.

The Soul's Vacation

A SERMONETTE
BY REV. S. S. HARDY,
Rector St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

IN GOD'S economy there is a place for rest as well as for work. Not only [illegible] the children of Israel [illegible] by day but by means of [illegible] pillar He [illegible] and by night.

There is a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] when [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] we are [illegible] being [illegible] [illegible] of life. [illegible] [illegible] of [illegible] to pull us together again.

We require vacations because [illegible] become so [illegible] all day, and every day, on a [illegible] we lose perspective. We [illegible] from the battle and the [illegible] and the counter and the desk and, "Lift up our eyes from the hills from which cometh our help." God helps us to holidays [illegible] they are His [illegible] to put things back into proper relations.

The soul too cries out for holidays. True we are commanded to "Work" [illegible] "but we are also advised that "They who wait upon the Lord shall renew their strength." There are times when we need [illegible] after God, [illegible] in our Gethsemane [illegible] "Only we [illegible] [illegible] Him." There are other times when [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] when [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] about in [illegible] search for God and when we should "Commune with your own heart upon your bed and be still."

Stillness, calmness, quietness, passiveness, when endowed with religious devotion, are the soul's vacation.

MINISTERS TO ATTEND MEET AT DELAWARE

850 Pastors from Three Conferences Expected To Attend Sessions

Ministers of three local Methodist churches will attend the annual sessions of the three Methodist Episcopal conferences of Ohio at Delaware, beginning Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Dr. H. J. [illegible], pastor of Epworth M. E. Church; Dr. J. B. Harlow, pastor of Wesley M. E. Church, and Rev. R. D. Powell, pastor of Asbury M. E. Church, are the local pastors who will attend the conference. This season will mark the first time that the Ohio, West Ohio and Northwest Ohio Conferences have been entertained together.

The conferences will be held at different churches in Delaware and transact the business of the organization in the forenoon and in the afternoon and night the three conferences will meet in Gray Chapel, one of the buildings of Ohio Wesleyan University. The entire college will be utilized by the delegates of the three conferences.

Expect 850 Pastors

It is believed that the conference will bring together about 850 ministers and 28 district superintendents of the state. Bishop Joseph F. Berry, of the Philadelphia area, will be in charge of the Ohio conference. Bishop Luther Wilson, of the New York area of the West Ohio, and Bishop W. F. McDowell, of the Washington, D. C. area, will be in charge of the Southeastern Ohio conference.

Marion churches are a part of the West Ohio division. Should any changes be made in the pastorates of any local churches for the coming, new appointments will be made at the conference.

REAL ESTATE IS ACTIVE HERE DURING WEEK

Recorder's Report Shows 52 Properties Change Hands; Indicates Favorable Trend

The real estate market in Marion county continued to exhibit activity during the last week according to the weekly report at the county recorder's office which shows that 52 properties changed hands. This was the largest number of transfers recorded in any one week since the beginning of the year.

The problem has a baffled solution chiefly in most [illegible] because it was approached with a one-sided mind.

Sample Home

A certain company decided to build [illegible] a house as an example of the practical possibilities of constructing what might be briefly termed permanent fire-safe homes. The site for the test building was selected in a residential suburb about fifteen miles from the center of New York City. Although the work was seriously delayed at the start by almost continuous rains, the building was completed and furnished four months after an actual decision was reached to build and this in spite of the fact that final plans were not completed for almost 60 days after the actual start of construction, preliminary and tentative drawings being used for the early stages of the work. This attempt was made with the thought that any material meeting the requirements would be considered, and final selection was made after consideration of all features, including first costs, customs and attitude of the [illegible]. An outline specification is given showing the materials used in each portion of the work.

Combustible Materials

The only combustible materials are the wooden doors, trim and floors. In the event of fire no structural unit would be consumed. At the two fire danger points, namely from garage to cellar and from cellar to first floor, metal covered doors and trim were installed.

A. J. MILLISOR BUILDING TWO NEW DWELLINGS

Work Started on Vernon Heights Homes; Another Scheduled Next Month

A. J. Millisor, local contractor, has started work on the construction of two new homes in Vernon Heights subdivision for Marion residents. A third home to be built on [illegible] Vernon Heights will be started next month.

Millisor is building an English style home on King[illegible] for Douglas [illegible], who now resides on [illegible] Center st. The home will have long sweeping [illegible] and a large brick chimney which will set in the front center of the building. An open porch will face the north.

The Walter F. Mathias home on Bexley [illegible] is expected by Millisor to be finished by Nov. 25. Foundation work was started yesterday and he expects that the structure will be under roof within 40 days. The house will have an open front terrace with wrought iron railings.

With the completion of the houses being constructed by Millisor and the C. W. Gamble home, the total number of homes in Vernon Heights subdivision will be 19 according to officials of the Vernon Heights Realty Co. today.

The plaster work of the Gamble home has just been completed and the interior wood work will be put in place in the near future. The home is of a Spanish and brick construction with red tile roof. It will be ready for occupancy early this fall.

FUEL ECONOMY SUBJECT OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

Holland Furnace Co. Stresses Proper Installation of System To Prevent Waste

Fuel economy is a subject in which every family is interested according to A. H. Landwehr, president of the Holland Furnace Co. When the home heating plant averages a high fuel consumption the furnace is usually blamed when actually the fireman may be largely responsible.

There are a number of factors that increase fuel consumption. The chimney flue draft, size of the heater air flow, proper regulation of the draft dampers and filled ash pits contribute to the burning and heating qualities of the furnace.

Economy in home heating can best be obtained by installing a furnace which has a greater heating capacity than the area to be heated requires. A heating plant which is smaller than the heating requirements call for not only [illegible] increased fuel consumption and requires much more attention in firing. It is always well for the home builder to call in a competent heating engineer which will assure him sufficient heat during the cold months with the minimum cost for fuel.

The heating problems of the home are studied by the Holland Furnace Co. through trained heating engineers. Mr. H. O. Nearhood, Holland heating engineer and local representative of the company at 154 S. Vine st., is a graduate of this course.

HEALTH

Modern doctors claim that the Healthiest kind of Heating system is one that circulates and properly moistens the air in our homes. Hot water and the ordinary hot air Furnace does neither.

The Holland is equipped with an automatic Humidifying system whereby you can evaporate as high as 20 gallons, if necessary, of water in the air every 24 hours.

This system keeps the air you breathe at the right moisture content all of the time.

TIME NOT RIPE FOR CHURCHES TO UNITE, CLAIM

Rev. E. O. Bradshaw, Chicago, Formerly of Marion, Issues Statement Here

Rev. Emerson O. Bradshaw, A. M., D. D., Ph. D., of the department of religious education of the Chicago Church Federation, of Chicago, formerly of this city, was a visitor during the last week with his mother, Mrs. N. A. Bradshaw, 700 Prospect.

Dr. Bradshaw who has been connected with the Chicago Church Federation, is a member of the Baptist denomination and several years ago while studying for the ministry, filled the pulpit of Trinity Baptist Church in the absence of the regular minister.

The federation with which Dr. Bradshaw is connected is regarded as one of the strongest and largest federation of churches in the United States. It is supported by provisions made in the budgets of the churches in the federation.

Seventeen different protestant denomination which go to make up nearly 800 churches of the county, comprises the Chicago Church Federation.

Work of Federation

The work of the federation is to support chaplains of the Cook County Jail Cook County Infirmary, the House of Correction and several other institutions in that vicinity. Cook County includes part of Chicago.

During the last summer the federation has carried on 250 vacation Bible school enrolling more than 30,000 boys and girls. The schools closed Aug. 1. Training for 5,000 teachers in the Chicago Sunday Schools has been given the last year under the supervision of the federation.

The department of religious education with which Dr. Bradshaw is immediately connected is an auxiliary of the International Council of Religious Education. It is under the leadership of Dr. Hugh S. Magill.

Issues Statement

In a statement during his stay here this week, Dr. Bradshaw declared that the time is not yet ripe for churches of like faith to unite. Through the federation, he stated, the churches have been forced to cooperate fully in carrying on many activities for the good of the city.

Dr. Bradshaw with his family left Marion Thursday morning for a short tour of the south where he will visit relatives and friends before returning here in two weeks. There is a possibility, according to members of his family here, that he may make some addresses on his return before he goes back to Chicago.

Marion's Salvation Army Post Actively Engaged In Work More Than 30 Years

One of Three Corps in State Without Permanent Home, Records Show; Captain and Mrs. William Killoch in Charge of Program

Although the Marion post of the Salvation Army has been in existence for more than 30 years, it is one of the three corps in the state of Ohio without a permanent home, according to the statements of Captain William and Mrs. Killoch.

For years the post has had its headquarters in rented buildings and will continue to live, Captain Killoch states, unless [illegible] wills its property or bequeaths its money to buy property.

The Marion post has been active for its entire 30 years, carrying on its program of helpfulness in cases of need and conducting its regular religious services. The Army, Captain Killoch reports, is the largest religious organization in existence, operating in 82 countries and speaking in 67 languages. It possesses 50,000 [illegible].

Captain and Mrs. Killoch are the youngest leaders ever stationed in Marion. Both have the same privileges of a regular ordained minister of the gospel. Captain Killoch was born in Glasgow, Scotland, coming to this country in 1906. He is a musician, having been graduated from the Boston Conservatory of Music. He entered the Salvation Army during the world war and was placed in the First Quebec Regiment.

The captain's [illegible] program of [illegible] in Marion is the young people's work, [illegible] the entire [illegible] of the post depends upon the [illegible] and cooperation of the [illegible]. There has been a [illegible] in this department under the capable direction of [illegible].

Captain Killoch is also in charge of the Army work in Richwood, and is assisted by Captain McKenzie. Services are conducted in the Marion County Jail [illegible] each month.

The Soul's Vacation

A SERMONETTE
BY REV. S. S. HARDY,
Rector St. Paul's Episcopal Church.

IN the economy there is a place for rest as well as for work. Not only [illegible] He lead the children of Israel by a cloud by day, but by means of the fiery pillar He indicated their rest by night.

There is a centrifugal tendency in the [illegible] with which men work [illegible]. The [illegible] we call the "human being" becomes [illegible] under the strain of life. Physically, mentally, morally and spiritually we are flying off at tangents. We require the centripetal force of a [illegible] to pull us together again.

We require vacations because [illegible] we have become so specialized, working all day, and every day, on a [illegible] we lose perspective. We ought to get away from the lathe and the [illegible] and the counter and the desk and, "lift up our eyes from the hills from whence cometh our help." God [illegible] us [illegible] they are Holy Days to put things back into proper relation.

The soul [illegible] cries out for holidays. [illegible] we are exhorted to "Work" [illegible] but we are also [illegible] that "They who [illegible] 'wait' upon the Lord shall renew their strength." There are times when we must strive after God, as [illegible] in our Gethsemane that "Only we might find Him." There are other times when [illegible] must pass, when striving must cease, when conscious effort must abate in the search for God and when one should "Commune with your own heart upon your bed and be still."

Stillness, calmness, quietness, passiveness, when endowed with religious [illegible], are the soul's vacation.

MINISTERS TO ATTEND MEET AT DELAWARE

850 Pastors from Three Conferences Expected To Attend Sessions

Ministers of three local Methodist churches will attend the annual sessions of the Ohio Methodist Episcopal conference of Ohio, at Delaware, beginning Tuesday, Sept. 6.

Dr. H. L. George, pastor of Epworth M. E. Church; Dr. J. P. Darling, pastor of Wesley M. E. Church and Rev. H. D. Powell, pastor of Asbury M. E. Church, are the local pastors who will attend the conference. This session will mark the first time that the Ohio, West Ohio and Northwest Ohio Conferences have been entertained together.

The conferences will be held at different churches in Delaware and transact the business of the organization in the forenoon and in the afternoon and night the three conferences will meet in Gray Chapel, one of the buildings of Ohio Wesleyan University. The entire college will be utilized by the delegates of the three conferences.

Expect 850 Pastors

It is believed that the conference will bring together about 850 ministers and 28 district superintendents of the state. Bishop Joseph F. Berry, of the Philadelphia area, will be in charge of the Ohio conference. Bishop Luther Wilson, of the New York area of the West Ohio, and Bishop W. F. McDowell, of the Washington, D. C., area, will be in charge of the Southeastern Ohio conference.

Marion churches are a part of the West Ohio division. Should any changes be made in the pastorates of any local churches for the coming, new appointments will be made at the conference.

I could go back to school there and start in again on McGuffey's Fourth Reader.

WELL all I know is just what I read in the papers. Or what I [illegible] around up on the old Hilltop at Beverly. I dont know what it is whether it is old age. I dont believe its old age, for its a condition that has always been with me, that is I am a great admirer of old people. Of course we will all say that we are, and everybody has unlimited respect for them. But what I mean I like to court 'em and hear 'em talk. I have got great respect for what they did in their day and time. This thing we are living in is not a day or a time. Its just a MESS.

Dinners At Noon

A few days ago we had the pleasure of having in our home, (I might say modest home) for we are the only home in Beverley that has low ceilings, eat dinner at noon, and supper 30 minutes before going to bed. (Except a precious [illegible] and the hired Girl (I said THE hired not A hired Girl says, "Dinner is ready for you all," instead of a Butler bowing low and announcing, "The meal is served, Madam."

This visitor we had was what I consider one of the outstanding women of America. It was Miss Alice Robertson, of Muscogee, Okla., as the country affectionately knows her. "Miss Alice." She was our Congresswoman from Oklahoma, and if memory serves me right the second woman to sit in that great lawmaking body, Miss Jeanette Rankin was first.

Parents Missionaries

Miss Alice is a very lovely kindly old Lady. She has devoted a long and useful life to do nothing but help someone else. She was on her way to Oakland, Cal. to attend the great meeting of the Club women of America, she had been sent by her State as the outstanding woman. She had been raised among our people, the Cherokees, also the Creeks and Seminoles. Her father and mother before her were Missionaries among the Indians. She has lived right around Muscogee all her life. She is a Republican in Politics and a Democrat in actions. She was elected as a Republican in a Democratic constituency. She was defeated because she voted against the Soldier's Bonus Bill in Congress. Yet, she was all during the war and is today the greatest friend the Soldier ever had. She voted against it, because she thought it was a mere pittance, that it was just a Political Handout to get the votes of the Soldiers, if it had been five thousand dollars apiece, she would have voted for it. She ran a Restaurant in Muscogee and went broke doing nothing but feeding Soldiers free.

Good Word for All

Women of various clubs went out against her because she was against the "Maternity Bill." She thought that women should be allowed to have children in privacy without any meddling of the state or Government to see if it was antiseptic or not. Her house burned down she lost everything she had, she was supposed to have struck oil on her land. It turned out to be only gas, and not enough to pay, so they plugged the hole up again. Yet has a good word for everybody. According to her, the world aint wrong, the interests are not against her. She has been well repaid, the world don't owe her anything, she is happy, she don't worry. She is just a wonderful old Lady and I am glad its Oklahoma that claims her.

Another old Oklahoman was up to see me, a Man, that when I was a Kid growing up on a ranch in the old Indian Territory who this man owned more cattle than any man in the Nation, that was W. E. Halsell of Vinita. He gave a school to that country in the early days, called Will Halsell School, so I went there awhile in fact, quite a while. I was four years in McGuffey's Fourth Reader there, was in Ray's Arithmetic three years and couldnt get to fractions. Well I saw they wasent running that school right, I could have taken it and made something out of it. So I just got out. That's the way I have always done with schools. The minute mine and their ideas dident jibe why I would get out, or something they would ask me, I would generally always do it, if they did. I was an accommodating boy.

Built Town on XIT

I went to Muscogee to a school there awhile when I was eleven. It was all wet too, so I wouldent monkey with it. When they sold the big XIT ranch in Texas, the biggest one in the World, why Mr. Halsell bought a big part of it. He has built a whole town on it, and another School. He told me I could go there and start in where I left off at the old Fourth reader. He is our oldest Oklahoman and dident make it out of Oil. He is a Cowman and always will be. When these old time Cowmen die out we havent got anybody to replace em. These owners that drive to [illegible] that evening, they are not Cowmen, they are just Cattlemen without the [illegible].

Charlie Siringo Is old Cowpuncher

that has cut a great [illegible] "Riata and Spurs" [illegible] Code [illegible] Horse [illegible] hoping will [illegible]

Helped Out Too

Well Charlie [illegible] day with me. W[illegible] actor [illegible] people seem to [illegible] than [illegible] much more [illegible] either that [illegible] old timer [illegible] 48 and as well [illegible] when he started [illegible] Romeo's Ladder [illegible] looked like [illegible] seven [illegible] all the [illegible] Mr. Richard Pearson [illegible] stamina [illegible] War. That is a grain of it sells eventually for nine thousand times as much as it originally cost.

Expecting Judge Lindsey

Judge Ben Lindsey, of Denver, is coming out to see me. He don't exactly come in on old timers' week, but the Judge wants to explain to me his angle on all this marriage business he has caused so much talk about. So by the next time I may have something to relate to you along the line, Love, and all its various by-products. I have a great admiration for the Judge. He has done the greatest work with that Court of his of any man in America. I like to get everybody's angle. He sure does know people, and human nature. Maby I can take his scheme and the Preacher's one the Hollywood one and between the three of them work out something that will be satisfactory to everybody. Just off hand I think the Mormons have so far worked out the most ideal scheme, so look out in an early issue for Love Will Find a Way.

And you remember what I told you about old people, you talk to them and get around them and see if you don't just feel better after you have done it. But Watch for the Sex issue.

of Junior section I-beams, reinforced gypsum slab, and finished wood floor. The steel must not be confused with so-called metal lumber as the sections employed are identical in material and manufacturing process with structural steel universally used in sky-scrapers.

The roof was similar to the floors, except that sleepers were omitted and the gypsum was poured. Roofing felt was laid directly over the gypsum, and the slate, 3-16 inch black and purple and random secured by cut copper nails.

Interior partitions were of three-inch gypsum block, except where cement mortar was to be later used where three-inch hollow terra cotta blocks were substituted. The use of both gypsum and terra cotta blocks for partitions eliminated the use of lath, as the plaster was placed directly upon the block.

The total cost of the completed building, exclusive of land, was 52 cents per cubic foot, which is probably somewhat under the average cost of good residential work in the locality. In addition, the costs on this particular operation were somewhat penalized by lack of proper preparation previous to starting construction due to delay in finally deciding upon the location.

There is no question but what the construction of permanent dwellings can cut the annual repair bills to such an extent that an economic benefit will result to the entire community. It should be noted, however, that dwellings of this type require not only careful advance planning, but construction experience of a high order.

Baldauf & Schlientz at 133 N. Greenwood-st. can give helpful advice to those thinking of building as they have had many years experience in handling building material and supplies.

PUT THEM TO THE MILEAGE TEST

SO CALLED STANDARD tires are guaranteed for only three months. That is the [illegible] FRANCO-INSURED TIRES are guaranteed four times as long—a whole year.

These oversize and super-quality tires are positively insured against stone bruises, rim cuts, blowouts, tread separation, or any other defects, or ACCIDENTS that would put the tire out of use.

You take no chances. You are certain to get at least one year's service, but the price you pay, it is not unusual for these tires to run two and three years.

Because this is a direct factory proposition, they cost you no more than you would pay for ordinary tires, guaranteed only one fourth as long.

There is a pride and satisfaction in riding on tires of such unusual quality, and a deeper satisfaction in knowing that your tire cost cannot possibly be more than the agreed amount per year and will very probably be much less.

We give you the insurance policy and guarantee in writing.

We want to show you the tires and the insurance policy.

Shovels Certain of Tie In Commercial League

EAGLES TO PLAY MASSILLON

SPORT SAUCE

BY EDDIE SCHOENLEB

AS the Eagles advance [illegible] to tie for first place in the Commercial League, the [illegible] question of the Little World Series arises. Will the Sunday School team or the team of the other league be [illegible] the players who [illegible] both.

This [illegible] applies [illegible] to Calvary No. 1 and the Eagles, probably the two best recreational league ball teams in the city. Last [illegible] the Eagles defeated the Stars with little trouble. Three of the [illegible] in action with Calvary a few days ago played with the Eagles and one of them was Gruber, Calvary's best pitcher and the one that will boost them through the Little World Series if they get through.

The other two were Willie Dubbert, a heavy hitter and a hard working first baseman, and Young, another slugger as well as a brilliant outfielder.

If the Eagles win the Commercial League and go into the Little World Series against Calvary No. 1, which team will get the three players mentioned? It's an even bet that the team which loses these three or any one of the three, will find the Little World Series tough going.

Pitching winning ball for the New York Yankees is a simple matter. You have only to hold the opposition to 10 or 12 runs and let Babe Ruth, Lou Gehrig, Tony Lazzeri and the other sluggers whale the other moundsman for 14 or 15 more.

But, in looking over the pitchers' records for the season, we find that Waite Hoyt, veteran of the Yankee hurlers, apparently is not content to drift along in that manner. He is out to tell the world—and prove to it—that at 27 and with 12 years experience behind him, the "schoolboy" is still a boy.

Recent pitching averages showed Hoyt to be allowing fewer than three runs to a game. The records also reveal that in one stretch of 21 starts, Waite hurled 15 complete games.

Hoyt has pitched in three World Series since his debut in big league circles. He has broken even in those games. He won two and lost one in 1921 and lost another in 1922. Last fall he won one and suffered one defeat.

Rumor has it that a number of scouts, including the managers of several big league teams, have been down south lately looking around. And the same rumor tells us that the big boys invariably turn toward New Orleans during the trip.

Looking over prospects in that vicinity we find a young gentleman called Eddie Morgan, playing with the New Orleans Pelicans. He's fresh from Tulane, where he won all athletic honors in sight, including four baseball letters, three football, and three basketball letters. He didn't have time to enter track at school but it is said that in practice one night recently he stepped off the 100-yard dash in 10 1-5 seconds, loaded down with his uniform.

And as to his baseball record during the [illegible] season. He's batting .270; he's smacked out 10 homers, 10 triples, and 22 doubles, and he's credited with more base thefts than any other man in league baseball down south. He plays anything from first, second and third base, to left, right, or center field. In college, he also caught.

That's enough to take any big leaguers south.

WALDORF NINE TO CLASH WITH MARION SUNDAY

First Game of Season for Athletics Under New Name

J. B. Olson, famous speed king of the Massillon Waldorfs, Eastern Ohio colored baseball champions, who has just returned to the club from the Detroit Stars, will be on the mound for the visitors at Lincoln Park Sunday when the Massillon team invades Marion for a tilt with the Eagles, formerly the Athletics.

Not satisfied with having one star man for slab artist, the Waldorf manager announces that Mercer, who pitched a no hit game a few weeks ago against one of the best colored teams in the state, will be on the bench ready for all emergencies.

The colored team will be the first opponent for the Marion Athletics under the management and backing of the Eagles, who took over the club a few days ago. The same lineup will be used that faced the Lima Independents last Sunday and came out of a 10-inning skirmish with a victory.

Main to Pitch

Main will pitch for the local crew. He is going at top form and, with the excellent support like that of last week afforded him, will have something to say about who is to win Sunday's clash.

Pitted against the Marion field will be a group of experienced baseballers from Massillon, together with a few "outsiders" who are booked with the Waldorfs for the meeting with Marion. S. Swager, third baseman, comes from the Steubenville Giants.

The Marion outfit has lost only a few games this season and is expecting to finish the summer with a clean slate. If last week's performance can be used as a judge, the locals are determined to down all comers, no matter how tough they are.

The game Sunday will be called at 2:30 and E. C. Mackon will umpire.

MARION BINCOS IN PRELIMINARY

The Marion Bincos will take on Morral in a seven-inning preliminary game at Lincoln Park Sunday, it was announced today.

The Bincos have trimmed Morral on two occasions and will probably again turn the trick but both games have been closely contested and the team that gets "the breaks" Sunday may take the tilt.

Kenneth Fields will be on the mound for the locals. The game will be called at 1 o'clock.

POSTPONE TENNIS MEET WITH SYCAMORE TEAM

The tennis meet scheduled here between the Vernon Heights team and Sycamore Sunday has been postponed until Sunday, Aug. 28, it was announced today. Lima will come here next Sunday, Aug. 21.

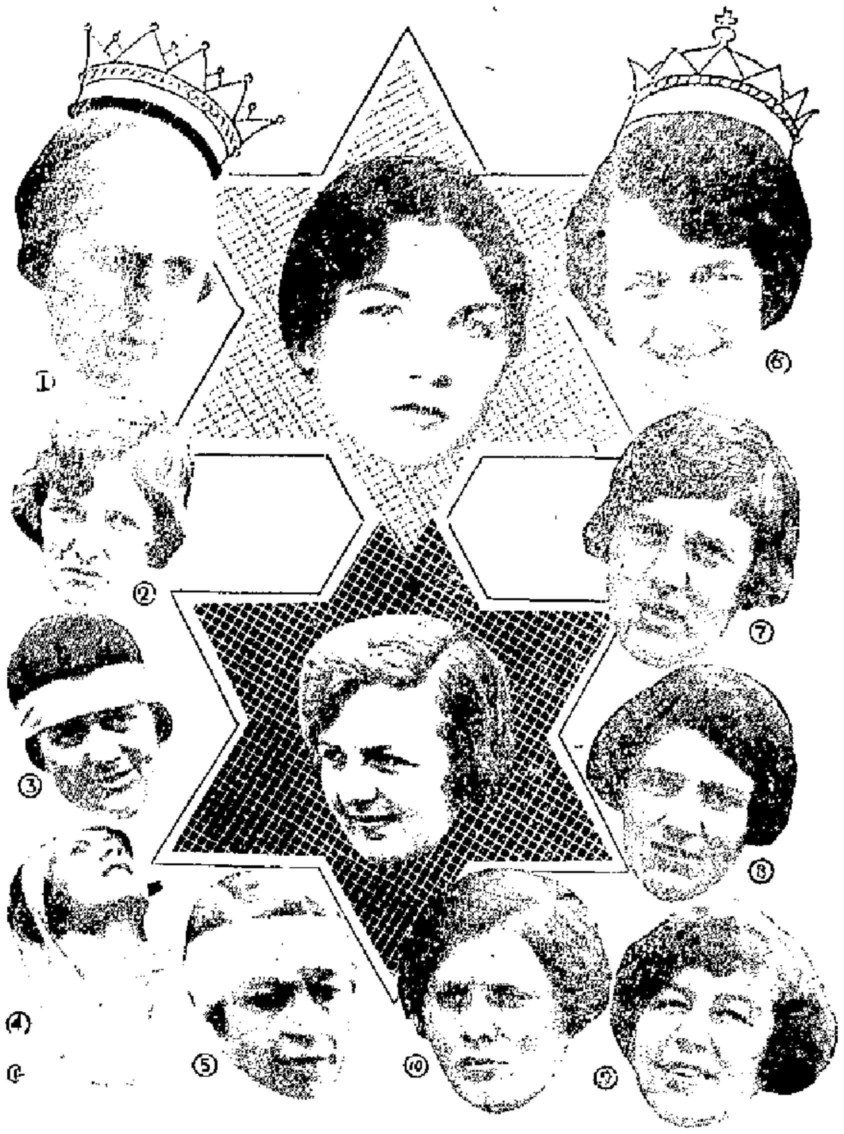
They'll Decide Superiority Between American and British Tennis Players



THE WIGHTMAN CUP TEAMS. AMERICANS ON LEFT: 1—CAPTAIN HAZEL HOTCHKISS WIGHTMAN, 2—HELEN JACOBS, 3—ELEANOR GOSS, 4—MRS. A. H. CHAPIN, 5—MOLLA BJURSTEDT MALLORY AND UPPER STAR, HELEN WILLS. BRITISHERS: 6—CAPTAIN, KITTY McKANE GODFREE, 7—JOAN FRY, 8—GWEN STERRY, 9—MRS. J. H. HILL, 10—E. H. HARVEY AND LOWER STAR, BETTY NUTHALL.

THE question of superiority between American and British women tennis players is to be definitely decided in the Wightman cup play now being held at Forest Hill, L. I.

The two nations are tied in number of triumphs since the international series was launched in 1923. The Americans won that year. The British were successful in 1924 and 1925. America again came to the fore in 1926 making the count two all. The 1927 series is therefore all important in settling the claims of the two countries.

A study of the personnel of both teams brings the conclusion that the Americans have the most strength and if past performances of the individual players can be counted upon, should rank the favorites.

Miss Helen Wills, at the top of her game, is by far and wide the best on either team. Helen's triumph this summer at Wimbledon during which she beat England's best proves it.

Mrs. Mallory Next

Molla Mallory, American champion, should prove America's second best bet with able assistance from the youthful Miss Helen Jacobs and that fine pair of veterans, Miss Eleanor Goss, Mrs. A. H. Chapin and the team captain, Mrs. George W. Wightman, the former Hazel Hotchkiss and donor of the Wightman cup.

Opposed to the American galaxy of stars is one of the smartest groups of women tennis stars Britain has ever sent across the sea.

Led by an able veteran, Mrs. L. A. Godfree, the former Kitty McKane and having in its lineup that [illegible] youngster, Miss Betty Nuthall, the British will have to be reckoned with.

At the pace she has been going Miss Nuthall is able competition for any of the Americans, not excluding Miss Wills. It was hoped that the Wightman series would bring these two girls together again. Miss Wills [illegible] in their first meeting [illegible].

Neimeyer and Toomire Each Get Home Run in Fifth

The Butler recreational ball team last night whitewashed Delaware, 6 to 0, in a game featured by two home runs in the same inning, Neimeyer and Toomire being the bat wielders. The two home runs came in the fifth. No one was on the sacks at the time of each of the circuit clouts.

Butler's made one in the first frame, two in the fifth, and three more in the eighth. Moeller was the visiting pitcher and the locals had no trouble in smacking him all over the lot for 11 hits. Toomire had the Delaware team under complete control at all times. He allowed six hits and struck out eight men.

Butlers will meet the Delaware team at Delaware next Friday night in a return game.

BEAT KIWANIS IN LAST LOOP TILT OF SEASON

Eagles Wallop Stars To Hold Second Place: Will Play Monday

THE Marion Steam Shovel Office recreational ball team last night established itself in first place in the Commercial League and is certain to tie for the loop title. It defeated the Kiwanis, 6 to 2, in the last scheduled game of the season.

And while the Shovels was winning its final clash, the Eagles, in second place, walloped the Marion Stars, 9 to 0, and now rest within one game of the league leaders. The Eagles have one more game to play. If they defeat the Kiwanis, they will be tied for first and a play-off will be necessary some time next week, previous to the Little World Series.

The Kiwanis, who had a fighting chance to win the league championship are out of the race, their defeat last night eliminating them from the closest and most exciting battle ever staged in the Commercial League.

Kappas Win

Kappa Alpha Phis retained a hold on fourth place by trimming the Postoffice, 5 to 4, and the Dairies replaced the Stars in sixth place by whitewashing the K. of P.'s 3 to 0.

The Eagles are scheduled to meet the Kiwanis at Fairfield diamond Monday night in what will be the final game of the season for the Eagles. The Kiwanis still have a postponed game to play with the K. of P.'s. Other postponed games also are scheduled for Monday night.

Clark allowed only three hits while the Shovels were winning over the Kiwanis. The Shovels received six bingles off John Hane, making four runs in the third inning, and another in the fourth, and the last tally in the fifth. The Kiwanis made two in the fifth frame.

Eagles Beat Stars

Eagles had no trouble in downing the Stars. They collected 11 hits off Gibson while numerous errors were chalked up against the losers. The Stars touched Gruber for five hits and had the bases full on two occasions, but lacked the punch needed to score.

The Dairies made three runs in the third inning to win over the K. of P.'s. They got only two hits off Bob Peslon but these hits came in the same inning, and combined with a walk, gave the Dairies the game. The Pythians received three hits off Shultz, Dairy pitcher.

Scoring the winning run in the seventh frame, the Kappas last night took another game and remained in fourth place as the result of downing the Postoffice, 5 to 4. Cookston pitched for the Postoffice, allowing 10 hits, while Rank gave only six hits.

Self-Trained Aviator to Stage Exhibition Flight In Home-Made Airplane

Public Will Be Invited To Witness Demonstration in Field Near Marion; Craft Being Repaired Following Crash in Which Propeller Is Damaged

Carl Ferguson, Marion man who is believed to be the only self-trained aviator on record, is making final preparation for staging an exhibition flight to which the public will be invited. He will pilot the airplane which he designed and built in his own workshop without the assistance of instructors and with no blue prints to guide him.

His home-made craft, which was damaged while he was attempting to make a flight several weeks ago, has been repaired and is now at a farm near the city where final adjustments are being made.

Location of the farm is being kept a secret by Ferguson until he is fully prepared to make his next ascent. He plans to announce the place and date for his flight as soon as all preliminary arrangements are completed.

New Propeller

The plane has been equipped with a new propeller, replacing the one which was broken several weeks ago, the front section of the fuselage has been reinforced with steel and a number of other repairs and improvements made. Fer- [illegible]

First Attempts

Ferguson then installed a regulation airplane engine and with this new and more powerful equipment was able to pilot his craft into the air.

He staged one successful flight several weeks ago but when he attempted to repeat the following day his airplane hit the ground after going up a short distance, breaking the propeller.

Ferguson's flying field in his first tests of the plane was at the Tilbout farm, located near Green Camp.

Ferguson is employed as a welder at the Osgood Co. plant and built his airplane by working at night and during other spare time at his home workshop.

PLAN TO OPEN SALEM CHURCH BIDS TONIGHT

Contracts for Bulk of Work Will Be Let by Board of Trustees

Bids for the improvement of the Salem Evangelical Church will be opened by the trustees in the church parlors at 8 o'clock tonight.

Estimates on the work of improvement were received until noon today at both the office of J. Lewis Ellis, architect, and at the residence of J. M. Schneider, 334 S. State-st. Contracts for the work will be let at the church tonight on all work with the exception of the new art glass and the removal of the organ.

The improvement on the church will come to an approximate cost of $20,000, according to Ellis, who was in charge of the renovation plans. All plans have been approved of by the Ohio State Industrial Commission and the building committee of the church and it is expected that work will begin soon after letting the contracts.

To Remove Steeple

In accordance with the plans, the front and entrance of the church will be one of the definite changes in the present appearance of the building. The entrance of the church when remodeled will be at the southeast corner with a tower and bell constructed directly over the entrance. The present steeple will be removed.

Other improvements including the raising the main auditorium floor 30 inches, reconstruction of the choir loft and the chancel and the removal of the organ to the center of the auditorium directly in front of the platform will be made. A special room will be built near the Sunday school rooms for recreational purposes.

New lighting fixtures and a new heating system will be installed in the renovated edifice. The heating system will be of the warm air type.

After the church is remodeled it is expected that the main auditorium including a balcony with a capacity of 60, will seat about 250 persons. The Sunday school room will seat 450.

22 GIRLS BEGIN 10-DAY OUTING AT CAMP UHLER

Hi-Y Boys Scheduled To Take Part in Activities When Girls Return

Twenty-two girls from nine to 12 years of age left the Y. M. C. A. early today enroute to Camp Robert Uhler, Hepburn, for a 10 days' outing in the "Y" Camp. Eight girls from 12 to 15 years in age, who have been in camp for the last 10 days, will remain at Hepburn for another period. The five tent leaders now in camp also will remain another period.

Following the second girls' period, Hi-Y boys will go on a 10-day outing at Camp Robert Uhler, bringing to a close the Y. M. C. A. camping periods for this summer.

Jack Ellery still remains in charge of the physical education and athletic program at camp. Martin Yerberg, secretary of the "Y", is camp director in the absence of Donald M. Burson, boys' work secretary.

Cleveland Attorney Believed in "Pen" Was at Liberty

Cleveland, Aug. 12 — Morris Luff, Cleveland attorney and convicted embezzler, who, until yesterday, was believed by local officials to be a prisoner in Ohio Penitentiary, was held in county jail here today, pending his removal to Columbus.

Four years ago Luff was found guilty of embezzling $1,000 from an insurance salesman and received a seven-year sentence, but legal technicalities kept the case in the courts until June 28 of this year, when the Ohio Supreme Court refused to consider it further.

Last July 8, Luff appeared at the penitentiary before commitment papers arrived, whereupon he was instructed to return later. Failing to do so, he was taken into custody here, and will be sent to the penitentiary within a few days, according to Sheriff Hanratty.

Persistent Buying of Favorites Helps Whole Market

MOTOR STOCKS DISPLAY STRONG TONE IN PERIOD

Movement of Prices Becomes Confused as Collapse Aftermath

MARKETS AT A GLANCE

Railroad stocks firm; industrial stocks irregular; domestic bonds steady; foreign bonds steady; grain steady; copper firm; oil irregular; cotton weak; rubber steady; sugar firm; pig iron steady; foreign exchange firm.

New York, Aug. 13—Though the trickling of the speculative bubble this week was due largely to technical stock market conditions rather than financial and business developments, the financial district displayed considerable uneasiness as the market opened today, and the movement of prices was somewhat confused.

The professionals were reported active buyers of the better grade of industrial shares on short covering, General Motors being picked up in volume at 229, against Friday's close at 218⅞, and United States Steel up a point in the first period. But the so-called pool specialties were not so sure of their ground and these stocks declined two or three points in moderate trading. There was very little "distress selling" of impaired margined accounts, and thus the market had a breathing spell while the bullish forces surveyed the situation.

Reports Promising

The week-end business and industrial reports were promising, if not indicative of much improvement in important lines. Demand for steel products has shown a moderate increase, while automobile sales have increased. Cotton broke nearly two dollars a bale in the early trading, due to southern and hedge selling precipitated by the weakness of the Liverpool market and improved weather conditions in the cotton belt.

The whole market was swept forward to a higher price range near the end of the first hour by the persistent buying demand for the speculative favorites. Houghton Oil carried its recovery to above 12 for a gain of seven points from Friday's close, while Baldwin was advanced to above 250, up three, and United States Steel continued as the principal rallying point for the bulls, with its steady advance to 121½, after [illegible] nearly a point at the opening. Atlantic Refining moved up about 4 points in the leadership of the oils. Bethlehem Steel resumed its forward move and the New York City utility stocks jumped back into position with prices near the high levels of the movement.

All of the motor stocks displayed a strong tone with Chrysler, Nash and Studebaker leading the rally in the low-priced popular shares. Timken and Westinghouse were bought in good volume on the upturn, while stocks of the railroad equipment companies were inclined to follow the lead of Baldwin to a higher level.

The grain markets were steady, as also were the principal commodities reviewed in the weekend mercantile reports. Bradstreet's reported a three per cent gain in the Food Index number this week and Dun's Review found 40 increases and 34 declines in 82 changes in wholesale commodity prices this week.

BANK CLEARINGS FOR PAST WEEK ANNOUNCED

C., D. & M., C. M., & B. Track Repair Programs Moving Along on Scheduled Time

Work of Laying New Rails and Conditioning Line from Bellefontaine-av to Center-st on Davids-st Rapidly Nearing Completion; Other Improvements Made

The program of track and right of way repairs planned by the two local street car companies for this summer are being [illegible] according to schedule, officials said today.

No definite plan for the repair of the company tracks on N. [illegible] have been made by the C., M. & B., George Whysall, president of the company, said. "We would like to do more, in fact we would like to tear up the entire stretch of track and rebuild it, if we had the money."

"We are repairing the tracks as we go along," Mr. Whysall said, "and hope to have them in much better shape by fall." The repairing of the right of way along the tracks has been a bone of contention between the officials of the company and city council, for the last few years.

Temporary Filling

A [illegible] was placed [illegible] by the company [illegible] filling up [illegible]. The section of track, north of [illegible] for several hundred feet, is the worst in the stretch, while the north section as far as the [illegible] is in fairly good condition. Crushed stone and cut brick placed along the tracks have partially filled up the holes.

With new steel laid as far north as W. Center-st, the work of relaying rails and repairing the right of way of the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co. of that section of Davids-st from the first switch north of Bellefontaine-av to Center-st is rapidly nearing completion.

Switch Eliminated

A force of men are now working on that section of the track running parallel with the Marion Steam Shovel building. A switch which has been at that spot, has been eliminated, the cars passing at the Wooden switch.

The new rails have been placed and it is expected the work of relaying the track will start in a few days. With this section of the track completed, the entire stretch of the Davids-st track, with the exception of a stretch from Bellefontaine-av to the first switch north will have been completed.

Hauling New Rail

New rail is now being hauled and it is expected that work on this section will start in a short time. Nothing has been done so far with the repair of the company tracks on N. State-st. Rebuilding of these tracks, however, is a part of the program planned by the C., D. & M. for this summer, and it is the plan to start work on this section when Davids-st has been completed.

HANGS IN BALANCE

Vote of Lack of Confidence Will Be Moved on Tuesday

Dublin, Aug. 13—While the fate of President William T. Cosgrave's Irish Free State government hangs in the balance, there was intense political activity behind the scenes today.

The latest move in the kaleidoscopic Irish political situation was the notice given by Thomas Johnson, leader of the Irish Labor Party that on Tuesday he will move a vote of lack of confidence in the present Free State administration, which has been in power since December, 1922.

A coalition has been formed in Dail Eireann (the Irish Parliament) by the 43 Fianna Fail (Republican) deputies, headed by Eamonn De Valera, and the Laborites.

It is felt in some quarters that President Cosgrave may yet be saved, all depending upon whether the opposition coalition can hold together until Tuesday.

MAN BELIEVED DEAD IS RECOGNIZED BY AUTOIST

Nebraskan To Face Embezzlement Charge: Held by Cleveland Police

Cleveland, Aug. 13—After keeping his identity secret for three years, Jack M. Patterson, 38, who, up until yesterday, was believed dead, today was held by local police, and will be turned over to officers from Union, Neb., where he faces an embezzlement charge.

Patterson's undoing came about yesterday afternoon when a tourist from Nebraska recognized him at a filling station where he was working and reported to police.

Three years ago, during a visit to Chicago, with his wife and two children, Patterson's automobile was found at a public beach, with his clothing and a check for a bathing suit. He was reported drowned, although his wife was unable to collect insurance, amounting to over $40,000, the company contending that she could not prove her husband was dead.

Previously, Patterson had been a cashier in a bank at Union, Neb., and is said to have gone heavily in debt. He denies, however, that he embezzled any money.

After his disappearance, Patterson came to Cleveland. He has been working here as a filling station attendant, under the name of Frank Smith. Worry and his new mode of living have changed his appearance, according to the man who recognized him yesterday.

"I've been a fool," Patterson repeats again and again. "I'm ashamed. How can I ever face my wife and children?"

War Against Corn Borer to Be Extended Westward in Effort to Prevent Spread

In Spite of Intensive Work To Control Pest Moths Have Migrated to Easern Edge of Chief Crop Section in Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, Reports Show

The corn borer eradication war which has been in progress in Marion County [illegible] of the [illegible] will be carried on for more than a year [illegible] fall, [illegible] reports coming from Washington.

In spite of [illegible] efforts of state and federal forces to check the borer's [illegible] the present quarantine area, [illegible] from the larvae in July and August have migrated [illegible] reaching the eastern edge of [illegible] most productive corn [illegible].

As a consequence of this state of [illegible] of [illegible] of agriculture [illegible] in the principal corn counties of Indiana, Illinois and Iowa seeking to establish a [illegible] of the infested areas, which already embraces [illegible] of eight states extending from New England to the northeastern counties of Indiana.

Close Guard Kept

In the meantime the situation in Marion county and all other localities on the southern border line of the quarantine area is being kept under close surveillance by federal and state officials.

The guard patrol established on all highways crossing the border line in this county is being maintained under the direction of M. H. Lichty, Bucyrus, who is in charge of the work in Marion and Morrow counties. The guard will continue on duty until the close of the present corn season for the purpose of preventing any corn from going south beyond the quarantine line. The guard in Marion county consists of 25 men clothed with authority to stop all vehicles passing the border and turn back any found to contain corn shipments.

Plans Abandoned

Hope of complete eradication of the borer [illegible] through governmental agencies have been virtually abandoned, the reports from Washington state. Farmers are being frankly advised by officials that only a fight enlisting every corn producer in the threatened area will keep the devastating pest under control.

Five states, New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan and Indiana, passed eradication campaign legislation this year. Illinois and Iowa agents have taken up the slogan "They shall not pass" as their battle cry in the hope of avoiding federal quarantine regulations covering the 1928 crop. Intensive educational campaigns are under way in the newly threatened areas.

Develops Quickly

Experiments of the last six months, according to government officials, show that a heavily infested area will virtually double itself every year. Since the infestation was observed in Massachusetts in 1917, the area has spread almost to the eastern edge of Lake Michigan.

Recent discovery of the borer in garden crops from suburban communities on Long Island has caused the federal agricultural department to redouble its inspection efforts in New York markets. From this market, it is explained, shipments clear in great volumes to the entire eastern half of the United States.

So rigid is this inspection that on at least one occasion flowers were taken from a funeral procession when it was observed that they carried borer eggs.

Although eradication warfare has failed to check the movement of the borer into new territory, it was held the infestation in Marion County and other border localities at a minimum, officials say. The campaign in this county has held the borer population down to a very small percentage, so that it has not become a serious menace to the [illegible] crop.

The spread of the corn borer in this country is reported to date [illegible] 1909, when the first of the pests were brought into the United States, [illegible] shipment of broom corn from Italy.

KONJOLA ENDED STOMACH AND KIDNEY TROUBLE

Marion Lady Had Suffered 8 Years Before She Got The New Compound.

One of the latest well-known residents of this city who is strongly indorsing the new Konjola is Mrs. Nancy Sweger, North Avenue, Marion. Her statement about the work of this celebrated medical compound was given just a few days ago to the Konjola Man, who is meeting large crowds in person each day at the Stump Pharmacy, 121 South Main St., Marion, and explaining Konjola:

MRS. NANCY SWEGER

"I have but one thought in mind in giving Konjola my indorsement," said Mrs. Sweger, "and that is the good it will do others who are suffering. I found out about this medicine myself by reading the statements of other people, so I feel it is my own duty to indorse such a remedy.

"I had been suffering 8 years with stomach and kidney troubles before I got Konjola. The food I ate seemed to gouge around in my stomach like a sharp rock, and caused the most terrific pains anyone ever suffered. Large quantities of gas would form in my system, and bloat me up so that I could hardly breathe. The kidney trouble caused backaches, and night rising 2 or 3 times. This broke up my rest, and I was always tired and worn-out thru the day. Many times I had to lie down and rest.

"I had some faith in Konjola because everybody spoke so well of this medicine, but I had no idea when I started taking it that it would bring a great change over my whole system. Why, it is a positive fact that my stomach and kidney troubles are ended so completely that I am feeling like I never had a sick day in my life. I am free of backaches and night rising, and my food is digesting perfectly. My appetite is increased, and I always feel good from the time I get up until I go to bed at nights. I never think of resting during the day. I don't have the sickly, haggard look in my face any more, and it seems like my whole appearance is changed.

"It certainly is wonderful to find a medicine like Konjola, and as I said, I feel that it is my duty to indorse such a remedy to others."

The Konjola Man is at the Stump and Sams Pharmacy, 121 South Main Street, Marion, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Konjola is now being sold by all of the good druggists in every nearby town of this whole section.—Adv.

ONE MAN DEAD, TWO DYING, 10 ESCAPE INJURY

Three Coaches of Passenger Train Burn in Crash Near Lima

TRUCK DRIVER BRUISED

Fuel Ignites and Is Scattered for Half Mile by Burning Wreckage

Lima, Aug. 13—One man was burned to death, and two others are expected to die from burns sustained at Hume, near here, today when a southbound Baltimore & Ohio passenger train struck a truck of the Radiant Oil Co. of Lima. Three coaches of the train were destroyed by fire.

Howard Davis, baggage man, was burned to death. B. J. Linder, engineer, Cincinnati, and Anthony Florie, fireman, Cincinnati, are in City Hospital here with burns which doctors say will prove fatal. L. N. Sunary, driver of the truck, was burned and bruised, though it is believed he will recover.

The coaches destroyed by fire were the combination day coach and baggage car, the mail car and passenger car. Ten passengers escaped.

It is not known how much mail was being carried in the car, but it is believed all of it was destroyed.

The railroad right of way affords a clear view to auto traffic in both directions, it is said.

Gasoline and oil igniting immediately after the crash was scattered for a half mile as the engine plowed on, carrying the wreckage of the oil truck.

CITES ECONOMY IN REMODELING OF COURTHOUSE

Architect Says Improved Building Would Be Equivalent to New Structure

FIXES COST AT $75,000

Voters To Act on Bond Issue To Finance Project in November

Should voters authorize remodeling and improvement of the courthouse in accordance with plans prepared by the board of commissioners, Marion County will be provided with what virtually will be the equivalent of a new and thoroughly modern structure.

This was indicated today by J. Lewis Ellis, local architect who is completing plans and estimates for the work and who expects to submit his report to the commissioners early next week.

As the result of changes which have been made in the plans as originally outlined, the estimated cost will be in the neighborhood of $75,000 instead of $50,000, Mr. Ellis states. In order to proceed with the remodeling, a bond issue to cover the cost must be authorized by voters of the county. The proposal will be submitted to them at the November election.

Would Clean Exterior

Sandblasting of the entire exterior of the courthouse, the cleaning process used recently to dress up the front of the Marion National Bank building, is one of the additional improvement features recently agreed upon by the architect and board of commissioners. This treatment would remove all dirt and blemishes from the structure and give it the appearance of an absolutely new building, it is stated.

Needed roof repairs also are proposed, this feature not being included in the original plans.

The latest alterations also include installation of lavatory and toilet rooms for women underneath the west entrance to the building. The rooms now used for this purpose in the basement of the courthouse would be eliminated and the space used for offices.

The remodeling plans, as now revised, will add approximately 4,500 square feet to the present office space of the county building, the architect states.

Rental Value $5,000

It is estimated that the rental value of this additional space would be more than $5,000 annually. This is based upon rents paid in the central section of the business district, which are said to average $1.25 a square foot.

The general remodeling plans would add a fourth floor to the county building, provide elevator service, do away with the steps on the south side, substitute two converging flights of stairs for the pyramid steps now in use on the west side, and utilize for office purposes much of the space that is now taken up with hallways.

A drawing of the front of the proposed building as well as of the interior, were shown by Mr. Leske to [illegible] and other officials at the city hall. The architect came to this city from Columbus where he had visited the state department of workshops and factories with the view to learning the requirements of a theatre building under the state law.

ARREST SIX IN RIOTS AT MINE; ACCUSE SHERIFF

Situation in Belmont County Trouble Takes on Serious Aspect

300 ATTACK TAXI DRIVER

Officer of Law Charged with Intoxication During Disorders

St. Clairsville, Aug. 13—With four men and two women, said to be union sympathizers, under arrest and charged with inciting a riot and assault, with [illegible] five affidavits on the charge of Sheriff Hardesty with intoxication while on duty, and one man suffering a fractured jaw, affairs at the President Mine, Belmont County, took on a serious aspect today, according to Col. J. E. Conelly, Ohio National Guard officer, investigating the mine situation here for Governor Donahey and Adjt. Frank Henderson.

The men and women were charged with inciting a riot and assault to kill as the result of an alleged attack late Friday, upon C. V. Nichols, Wheeling, W. Va., taxi driver who is said to have been driving nonunion workers to the President Mine. About 300 men and women were in attacking crowd, it was reported, "including a black whiskered man who led the crowd." This man is said to be still at large.

Held for Hearing

Those arrested were Mike Primols[illegible], president of the President Mine local; Steve Sitch and Anta Santana, secretary and treasurer of the mine local; John Galagos, and Mrs. Mary Porsch and a Mrs. Ferendia.

Those arrested are being held at the county jail pending a preliminary hearing when bond will be fixed.

According to Colonel Conelly, about 25 non union workers were sent to each of three mines near here, the Webb and the Florence Mines, and the President Mine. There was no disturbance at either of the other two mines, according to the national guard officer who reported that the operators sent out their non-union workers without notifying the sheriff so that proper protection could be given them.

Of the five affidavits charging that Sheriff Hardesty was incapable of performing his duty because of intoxication, one was signed by Prosecuting Attorney Paul V. Waddell, and another by Assistant Prosecutor A. Edmund Iddings.

Guard Arrested

Following the alleged attack on Nichols, the taxi driver, at the President Mine, Colonel Conelly arranged to visit the mine with Waddell and Iddings. According to reports they were to leave about three hours after the reported attack when Sheriff Hardesty arrived at

York, Pa., Aug. 13—Citing the need for a "sane, safe and conservative man" as the Republican presidential candidate in 1928, State Treasurer Samuel S. Lewis today issued a statement at his home here lauding Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury, as the most outstanding possibility.

Lewis, widely known in politics, directed the campaign for the W. L. Mellon candidate in central Pennsylvania during the last state campaign. He is the first state leader to come out with a presidential preference.

"It has taken us some time to realize that President Coolidge meant that he would not be a candidate in 1928," Lewis asserted. He forecast that it may require months "to come to a full realization of our whereabouts, political, business and otherwise, without Coolidge."

Although saying that "Pennsylvania's claims in presidential conventions usually are waved aside," Lewis maintained that "if there ever is or will be such a thing as the office seeking the man, then Pennsylvania cannot be lightly passed up in the present critical juncture."

The statement described Mellon as "the man who in public appraisal and evaluation of those human forces and influences back of, and responsible for, our present state of unexampled national prosperity, ranks only second to President Coolidge himself."

American Diplomatic Activities In China Criticized

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 13—The course of American diplomacy in China recently is making the Chinese suspicious of this country's policy, Thomas F. Millard, former editor of the China Press, Shanghai, and former adviser to the Chinese government, asserted today at the Institute of Politics.

"We have witnessed in the last two years diplomatic agents of the American government in China helping to enforce treaties which the policy of the American government condemns, and which it logically would want to abolish," Millard said.

'War' Between Standard Oil Not Seen as Very Deadly

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—Is Standard Oil at war within itself?

When the government broke up the big parent company, did it manage to do it so effectually that the offspring actually have fallen to fighting one another?

Has the Standard of New York really "put one over" on the Standard of New Jersey?—in connection with that Russian oil dicker we hear so much about. And is the Standard of New Jersey genuinely as mad at the Standard of New York as it appears to be?

THE various Standard Oil companies do unquestionably have their separate interests and affiliations.

It happens that the Standard of New Jersey is hooked up with the Royal Dutch Shell group, a concern partly British in its makeup, and partly Dutch, as its name implies.

What the Royal Dutch Shell gets out of its alliance with the Standard of New Jersey is its own affair, but what the Standard of New Jersey hopes to get out of its relationship with the Royal Dutch Shell isn't hard to guess. The Standard wants certain important oil concessions in the Dutch East Indies, where the Royal Dutch Shell is mighty influential.

NOW in Russia there are immensely valuable oil deposits, formerly privately owned but nationalized, expropriated, confiscated or stolen—choose your own term—by the Soviet government, when the latter came into power.

The Soviet folk had the oil but lacked machinery to market it advantageously.

"How about a bargain with us?" suggested the Standard of New Jersey and the Royal Dutch Shell, which were well provided in this respect. The Soviet Naphtha Trust, very anxious for money, was agreeable and negotiations began.

They had not progressed far before it became evident that the Soviet government's and the Royal Dutch Shell's ideas of a satisfactory arrangement differed widely.

The Soviet was willing to furnish the oil on favorable terms, to be sold, but that was all. Sir Henri Deterding, head of the Royal Dutch Shell, insisted on a concession—a vested right in the deposits—in fact, a monopoly.

THE upshot was a speedy termination of the discussions—with considerable heat on the part of Sir Henri, who said he wouldn't have anything to do with a government which didn't recognize private property and had grabbed that oil besides.

The Standard of New Jersey seemingly wasn't as unyielding as Sir Henri, since it continued chatting with the Soviet Naphtha Trust for some time after he had stopped, still trying to come to terms.

However, it was clear enough that the New Jersey company couldn't finally offer any more favorable conditions to the Soviet than Sir Henri had offered without offending its own ally, the Royal Dutch Shell. Sir Henri's scheme, according to the Russians, was to "put the screws" on them—to prevent them from disposing of their oil at all except as he dictated.

For the Standard of New Jersey to have cut the ground from under the Royal Dutch Shell's feet would have been a most unfriendly act—and the New Jersey company had the Dutch East Indies to think of.

IT can't be proved, of course, but is it conceivable—it certainly is conceivable to some eminent oil authorities here—that the Standard of New Jersey, in this situation, said very, very confidentially to the Standard of New York?—

"You can see how we're tied up on this Russian oil situation. We're all Standard Oil companies together. Why don't you see what YOU can do?"

At all events, the next thing we know about it, the Standard Oil of New York and its affiliated Vacuum Oil Co. have framed up just such a deal with the Soviet Naphtha Trust as Sir Henri Deterding [illegible] refused to have anything to do with.

Sir Henri's [illegible] of [illegible] was one had expected.

THE Standard of New Jersey has made a decent show of indignation over the Standard of New York's "unfriendliness."

That's the utmost it can do.

No protest to the state department, no governmental action of any kind can possibly be invoked.

An American concern is at perfect liberty to enter into whatever trade relations it likes in Russia. If it gets into trouble there, it can't look to the Washington administration for help or support but its commercial ventures in Russia are none of the government's business.

The Standard of New York probably isn't afraid of anything of the sort. The Soviet government has been far from respectful of old private property [illegible], but it has an enviable reputation for keeping its word to the letter.

SURVEYOR HAS UNUSUAL TASK AT TOMB SITE

Boulevard May Have To Follow Ground Contour Because of Drainage

[illegible] County Surveyor [illegible]

Ditch Plans Add to Task

Delay in plans for improvement of Ququa ditch, which runs east of the Harding tomb and is the main drainage [illegible] has added to engineering difficulties in connection with the boulevard. Long hearing on the ditch project was continued until Oct. 9 when [illegible] claims for damages and [illegible] assessments were filed with the county commissioners recently.

Planning of the boulevard [illegible] greatly simplified if the Ququa improvement was assured, the surveyor stated today. It had been his intention to proceed at once with specifications for the boulevard had the ditch project been authorized when it came up for hearing last week.

Would Provide Drainage

The Ququa improvement as outlined would provide adequate drainage and make it possible to establish the boulevard on almost a level grade, the surveyor states.

The east half of the boulevard is to be constructed this year according to present plans. This can be accomplished without much difficulty, [illegible] believes, as the main drainage problem exists on the west end of the boulevard route.

The surveyor expects to make a final inspection of the route next week and complete plans for the work to be done this year.

Although damage claims filed in connection with the Ququa improvement amount to more than $5,000, an amount in excess of the estimated cost of the project, it is believed that all points in dispute will be adjusted satisfactorily so that work on the ditch can proceed. This will enable the surveyor to establish a grade for the western half of the boulevard without much difficulty.

Type of Construction

The east half of the boulevard is to be constructed of waterbound macadam. Providing drainage for a thoroughfare of that type is not as much of a problem as with paved thoroughfares and this will [illegible] in facilitating the work to be done this year.

The west half will be paved, probably with asphalt, so that more care will be required in arranging for drainage.

The entire boulevard extending from the end of the present paving in Vernon Heights to the Delaware rd. is to be 3,750 feet in length. The east half will be a single thoroughfare [illegible] a double boulevard with park land in the center at the west.

Permits for nine garages and one dwelling were taken out during the past week. The total estimated value of the garages was given by the builders as $1,065 which the estimated value of the dwelling was given as $2,500.

[illegible]

Building activities [illegible] at a low ebb at the present time according to construction authorities [illegible] in keeping with conditions generally throughout the country.

Local builders say there is considerable small work such as garages and repairs but little building of dwellings. They are optimistic however over the outlook for next year.

the county seat and threatened to [illegible] in the county jail if he attempted to accompany Colonel Conelly and Prosecutor Waddell.

Before the alleged attack at the Provident Mine, it is said, Hardesty had placed under arrest a mine guard, George Shrader, Pittsburgh, charging he was a paid agitator. Shrader was soon released and not locked in the county jail, it is said.

Waddell early today reported he would report Sheriff Hardesty's alleged intoxication to Governor Donahey with the intent to begin proceedings to have him removed from office, although Colonel Conelly in his report made no reference to the alleged intoxication of the sheriff.

CONELLY MAKES REPORT TO DONAHEY

Columbus, Aug. 13—Col. G. S. Conelly today made the following report of the Belmont County disturbance to the office of Governor Donahey:

"An auto load of non-union miners sent to each of three mines in Belmont County Friday afternoon at Webb and Florence Mines. Cars were sent back without violence. At the Provident Mine the driver in returning from the mines was struck on the left cheek with a rock and himself and car badly [illegible]. The sheriff had not been notified of the operators' intent to bring men to their mines, therefore sufficient protection was not available.

"Six arrests were made at the Provident Mine, including the president, secretary and treasurer of the local union and two women. More arrests are to follow."

With broken health after 11 years of strenuous circuit riding in [illegible] he came to [illegible] Marion was then a town of but few houses and only [illegible] and [illegible] forest surrounding the [illegible] village.

[illegible] August 1836. There were 17 tents [illegible] located two miles north of Marion. In 1840 [illegible] two yoke of oxen.

Jacob and [illegible] Mack were added to the class in 1842. In 1849 a church was erected, the first Evangelical Church in Marion County. Mrs. Schrote [illegible] dedicatory service [illegible] This building still is standing.

Canaan Class

When this church was organized [illegible] was selected on the [illegible] three miles southeast of Marion. Under Rev. [illegible] Nagle a new building was erected in the year 1870 and named Canaan by [illegible] Fifty years later the class here was dissolved and the church sold.

Marion, Crawford, Wyandot and Hancock Counties were detached from the southern end of the old Sandusky circuit in 1826 and called Crawford circuit. In 1838 the points in Marion County were formed into Marion circuit. In 1815 the work in Crawford County was attached to Marion circuit. It remained thus until 1800 from which time Marion circuit embraced only the work in the county.

During this period the Brech neighborhood became an important center of the circuit. Here a parsonage was erected in 1840, a log building which stood across the road from the present Salem church. It served for 46 years when a frame parsonage was erected on the same corner, now the home of Harley Klinefelter. Since 1898 the parsonage has been in Marion.

The Salem class erected a weatherboarded log church in the year 1851. Here the Ohio Conference session of 1858 was held. This structure was burned in 1867 and in October of the following year the present building was dedicated.

Calvary Church

As early as 1878 the Ohio Conference resolved to open a mission in Marion. Yet no advance was made until a group of Evangelical families began holding prayer meetings in 1892. Builders Need Not Carry the Fire Risk

A Builders' Risk Insurance policy will take this responsibility off the builder's shoulders — and he surely has enough responsibilities without it.

Such a policy covers damage by fire while a building is under construction — when the combination of inflammable material and a careless workman may have serious results.

We shall be glad to tell any builder about it.

World's Most Powerful Light.

Announcement is made that a searchlight five times more powerful than any heretofore constructed will be turned on full force at 8 o'clock next Tuesday evening at Charlottesville Virginia as an exhibit of the Institute of Public Affairs now in session at the University of Virginia So powerful is the light that it is anticipated that the glow from it will be visible to all first class observatories in the country The engineer in charge of the construction of the light says that were it possible to move Mt Wilson observatory to Mars it would be possible for the observers to tell the hour and the minute when the light is flashed on at Charlottesville He describes its huge beam as comparable to a mighty streamer of flaming gas and that under favorable weather conditions, the beam will be visible to the unaided eye for 200 miles

The searchlight's beam is said to be of 1 355 000 000 candlepower and the crater of the light when 17,200 watts are turned on will be the hottest thing on earth, its temperature being approximately 35 000 degrees Farenheit and its brightness equal to that of the sun at high noon So intense will be the heat of the light that it will blister the skin of a person should one get within its rays at a distance of 1 000 feet and it will produce the effect of sunburn at a distance of two miles

While it is stated that the tests of the light will include a check up on certain of Professor Einstein's theories and the current concept of the speed of light the use to which it ultimately will be put has not been stated It is conceivable that it may be utilized as a mighty beacon for the direction of ocean air travel or for the detection of an air attack in time of war, but if either is the intended use to which it is to be put the fact has not been announced, absolute silence being maintained on the subject

And thus the pursuit of size of bigness, of power goes on It seems to be the worldwide trend, but one more noticeably developed here in America than elsewhere What will be produced next, bigger or heavier or more powerful than that which has gone before?

Speaking of Revenue and Jobs.

We now have a dog warden and he and his deputies will be chosen, [illegible] within the county limits [illegible] 6 000 dogs will be found [illegible] being paid If this expectation [illegible] will mean [illegible] to what is derived from the transfer of ownership of dogs

If we understand the law as outlined in our news columns the warden and his [illegible] in addition to running down unlicensed [illegible] will make a dog survey or dog census [illegible] the ownership of every dog in the county legally qualified to live will be shown [illegible] after when one becomes the owner of [illegible] gift or purchase it will be necessary [illegible] to secure a bill of sale or something [illegible] line to show the change in ownership [illegible] same that the proceeding will be much like that which obtains in the transfer of an automobile If we are correct in this surmise the new law will be a revenue producer as well as a job producer, and that's the kind of law which has strong appeal to [illegible]

What next? may be asked

There's never any telling All depends on the strength of the demand for revenue and jobs But it must not be assumed that the dog law is necessarily the limit There never is a limit in taxation contrary to all that may have been said upon the subject The nuisance war taxes we are still paying the transfers on automobiles, the license tax on autos the three cent gasolene tax the dog license and transfer charge all of them show this and they also show the way to other channels for creating jobs and raising revenue

It's just possible that the next step will be a cat law providing for cat wardens and cat deputies and cat licenses and cat transfer charges And why not? Why a distinction between dogs and cats, unless it be to reverse the charges and place the dollar charge on the female cats and the three dollar charge on the Toms whose bass and baritone effects produce such weird sounds in the nightly choruses? There are said to be 6 000 dogs in the county There are probably as many cats Why not make the cats revenue producers as well as the dogs? Meow!

Perhaps no better light can be cast upon Eamon de Valera than that which he shed upon himself when he took the oath of allegiance to gain his seat in Dail Eireann and referred to it as nothing more than an empty formality And that's the man who has been keeping Ireland in turmoil for the past ten years

HEED THE LESSON

The Sacco Vanzetti case furnishes an object lesson for the people of the United States The repercussion throughout the country and the world caused by their trial and its incidents is a matter of most grave importance

The right of this sovereign country to apply and enforce its processes of legal procedure not only has been challenged both here and in Europe but every effort which has been made to intimidate and coerce our representative authorities Guards recently have been on intensive watch at Washington [illegible] these men have been stationed at all of the homes of [illegible] officers and supreme court justices the capitol [illegible] have been heavily armed all but a few entrances to the capitol and public buildings have been either closed or heavily guarded the person of the president of the United States has been more zealously guarded than usual Bombs have been exploded in many cities radical utterances and speeches have been heard on every hand authorities from common policemen to highest dignitaries in the nation have received threatening letters

All of this represents an intolerable situation Think of it!

And here is another picture The news from Italy Sacco and Vanzetti are Italians tells of how American tourists in that country are hastily crossing the Swiss frontier fearing jeers and attacks owing to the Sacco Vanzetti affair They declare that they were insulted in the streets of Italian cities while the police looked on and smiled At [illegible] two American [illegible] were attacked and injured near the station They declare that anti American feeling is inflamed by leading Italian papers It is said that at the Swiss Italian frontier railway stations Americans are strongly advised not to enter Italy

Again intolerable!

Nothing here said is intended to reflect upon the many Italians or other racial groups already citizens of America or in the way of becoming such [illegible] decent and law abiding aliens of any blood But there is a class of people that is undesirable here There are classes of all nationalities that are undesirable here These racial units do not come here to become citizens They are enemies of our country and our laws They [illegible] their sedition with defiant emotionalism They would like to see this country in the throes of revolution They urge with guns and bombs and with radical speech and literature They know nothing of our history and traditions and have no care to know They are communists or anarchists or some mongrel sub [illegible] combinations or variant of these so called philosophies They are as dangerous to American society as wolves or venomous serpents The country should be rid of them and if the Sacco Vanzetti case shall have stiffened up the backbones of the proper authorities we shall see a tightening up of the immigration laws

It is said that congress will be called upon to appropriate money enough to enable the immigration service to make a thorough round up of all radicals now in the country The commissioner of immigration says that when these undesirables are hunted down they will be shipped out of the country to the lands where they belong whence they came It is a consummation devoutly to be wished Deportation is the medicine for these dangerous [illegible] Let the body of immigration inspectors—now woefully small—be increased until it shall be fully competent to handle the millions of aliens they annually are called upon to investigate and examine This country has had enough of foreign radicals and radicalism and enough too, of domestic radicals—parlor and other kinds, male and female Let them all be sent out of the country —Cincinnati Enquirer

ANOTHER "GRAMMARIAN'S FUNERAL"

[illegible] hundred and twenty two authors [illegible] business men and teachers reported recently that the hidebound rules of rhetoric are fast breaking down Originality and forcefulness of expression are taking the place of nice distinctions between [illegible] will, may and can and [illegible] whom [illegible]

However the group passed unfavorable judgment [illegible] It hoped the great American [illegible] would cease to say [illegible] and [illegible] "Who are you looking for?" and "It is me"

It is a rather large order As [illegible] grow up and leave school most of them become careless in their habits of speech Slovenly grammar can be detected in the speech of persons who are [illegible] careful in other matters And [illegible] grammar comes the [illegible] of clear enunciation which marks our speech of [illegible] "Uh huh" "Nope" and [illegible] words [illegible] many of us [illegible] of expression We [illegible] at the beginning and the end of sentences we [illegible] and swallow phrase They we learn [illegible] from the careful halting speech of [illegible] who are struggling [illegible] as she is written and spoke —Detroit Free Press

Mr Mathews is an advocate of unity which will be [illegible] is desirable whenever it is utilized to proper ends At the same time unity [illegible] is not to be desired However we give his view as he presents it He says

We have a new note in the Christian world today and that is the note of unity There never was [illegible] so earnest effort than that being made now to find some way which would enable the Christians of different faiths to work together [illegible] together and if I may use the word [illegible] together The movement today is the reverse of that among early Christians It is not so much toward theological unity as toward moral and religious unity

Tolerance is often more snobbishness That is not enough There is something more than the needed and that something is cooperation for main enthusiasm for the taking of secondary [illegible] in order to further the primary enthusiasm The way to get together is to work together and live together

CHAPTER XXI

[illegible] Nan! [illegible]

[illegible] Miss Cameron," Nan Fosdick [illegible]

[illegible] "I don't think [illegible]," Nan Fosdick [illegible]

"Dear Nan!" Vee-Vee said [illegible]. "I didn't mean to look at you like that. Is there anything I can do for you? Though I hope you only came to pay me a call." She wanted to touch those tightly locked hands with tender, comforting fingers, but she knew she did not dare.

"Yes, there is something you can do for me!" Nan Fosdick cried harshly. "You can let Schuyler Smythe alone! You don't love him! You're only playing with him, amusing yourself with a little fun because there isn't a big one in this puddle big enough for you anyway!"

"Nan, you mustn't talk like that," Vee-Vee spoke gently but firmly. "You'll be sorry tomorrow, hate yourself for having given yourself away to another woman. Let me order some tea and little cakes sent up—You'll feel better after a cup of hot tea—"

"Tea! Ye gods!" the younger girl snorted angrily. "I don't want tea—with you! Everyone here is bowing down to the earth before you, but I won't [illegible] to you, just because you have [illegible] millions and have been a princess! I—"

"Nan!" Vee-Vee interrupted sharply. "I've told everyone that all that is not true, that I'm just plain Vera Cameron," she went on recklessly. After all, why not convince this hostile girl, who would be glad to believe her, and take the consequences of Nan's gossip?

"Oh, sure, you've said so, but do you think anyone believes you? It's your own business, I suppose, if you want to pretend [illegible] but you know you can't fool anyone with that [illegible] face of yours!" [illegible] If you'd really wanted to escape being recognized, why didn't you get a wig and a pair of spectacles? You're having the time of your life, pretending to be incognito, but you're ruining my life—and Sky's too. You'll break his heart and laugh, just as you've always done. Oh, I'm not such a dunce but that I haven't heard gossip, Miss Cameron!" she added, with bitter emphasis. "Oh, won't you please go away? You must be tired of the game by now." Her voice changed suddenly to the humble pleading of a heartbroken child.

"I—I can't leave—yet," Vee-Vee answered slowly. "I can't explain, Nan, but I can't leave just yet. I don't want to make you unhappy. I've been worried sick about you, you poor child—"

"Don't 'poor child' me!" Nan cried passionately. "I won't have it! All I ask of you is to give me back what belongs to me! You don't want him, really? You've had so many others. All your life you've been beautiful, rich, sought after. Can't you let me have the only man I've ever loved, the only man that's ever loved me?"

"Did he love you, Nan?" Vee-Vee asked in a level voice that concealed the panic that whipped her heart to frantic racing.

"He said he did! He—he simply followed me about everywhere I went—before you came. We played golf and tennis together, swam together, rode together, [illegible] morning, noon and night. He [illegible] and had extra dances with me [illegible] any of the [illegible] little flappers, because I—I was so light on my feet!" she ended on a sob.

"Had he asked you to marry him, Nan?"

"Yes, he had!" Nan Fosdick asserted violently. "And he's a liar if he says he hadn't! He asked me the Saturday night before you came, and I was go[illegible]

[illegible]

"You would! Nan, you'd make a very [illegible]" Vee-Vee said [illegible]

[illegible]

Everything, everything was slipping away from her, because her heart was soft, because she had not yet learned to be ruthless, as even this girl was.

She stood over the huddled girl in the chair, took Nan's chin between her fingers and tilted her face upward so that she could search those small, angry black eyes.

"He made love to me. He—he kissed me once," Nan stammered. "He followed me around, hinted that he'd ask me to marry him if it weren't that I was rich and he poor—"

"So you proposed to him on Saturday night, told him that you'd make your mother consent, though you knew she would be bitterly disappointed that you hadn't landed a man with social position. That's the truth, isn't it?"

"Oh, I hate you!" Nan jerked her chin away, springing to her feet. "I told you I know he wanted to marry me. Isn't that enough? I was a fool to come to you! I should have known that a woman like you would have no pity, no decency, when it came to men! As if you hadn't had enough in your time!" she flung over her shoulder bitterly as she plunged toward the door.

"As I see it," Vee-Vee said coolly, though she was trembling in every muscle, "we are two very foolish girls making a vulgar fuss over a man. He has not asked me to marry him, and according to your own admission he has not asked you. I think we both might have the decency to let the man speak for himself."

"Then you'll marry him if he does ask you?" Nan Fosdick turned at the door to demand breathlessly. "You!" Against her will her voice was charged with the awe which everyone seemed to feel for 40 million dollars.

"I don't think he'll ask me," Vee-Vee said, knowing that her words would puzzle the other girl. It was true, she thought sickly. Schuyler Smythe would not ask Vera Victoria Cameron to marry him. He might ask Princess Vivian, but if he did—

Nan Fosdick's hand was on the knob when the electric bell shrilled. She flung open the door, revealing Mrs. [illegible], dressed in the summer [illegible] in which Vee-Vee had first seen her in the hotel bus.

"Are you in, Vee-Vee?" she called in her cheerful, gushy voice. "I just popped in to say goodby for a few days. My mother is ill again. I've just had a wire from the doctor—the doctor himself, so it must be serious this time. I'm catching the midnight train. Anything I can do for you while I'm in the city, darling? Or for you, Nan?"

"You can let me go with you!" Nan Fosdick cried, throwing up her head defiantly. "I—I can't stay here another hour!"

Vee-Vee gets disconcerting news of Jerry. In the next chapter she learns something new about Vivian Crandall, her double.

But this time we feel sure we will be excused for talking a little about ourselves, for it was on August 15, 1911, that we were organized. We've been giving better service ever since.
